Jim gave an update on the Child Car Seat project; Debbie Page will be purchasing them from Fred Meyer at a discount.

Jim also received back from the Corvette Museum a confirmation of the design that was accepted and will be etched on our brick paver. The design was passed around.

NEW BUSINESS: Dick Shafer announced an upcoming trip planned for August 20th of next year that will include southern Utah, Wyoming, New Mexico, Four Corners and Mesa Verde, etc. Tentatively planned as a 12 to 13 day trip. More info to come later.

Linda announced that an Alaska Cruise is planned for September 2002. Start saving your pennies now!

Kevin will look into the Lake Chelan Trip planned for next June and give more information on room and hotel availability, catered barbeque at the park and any other interesting tidbits. Maybe a new contest??

Jim reminded everyone that there will be no formal club meetings in December.

The next meeting will be at Round Table Pizza on January 9, 2001. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 8:05pm. Joanne Olson won "Joker Up".

Corvette News:

Where are they now, lost Corvette works of art:

As Corvettes started rolling off the line, wooden bucks were used to create the mirror-image molds to shape the curves of the sports car.

These weren't your typical body bucks made from any old wood. No, the Corvette body bucks were carved from exquisite Polynesian mahogany, and the pictures show that they were also standalone works of art. The craftsmen who build these sculptures were very skilled, and the body bucks should be in a museum somewhere we can all gaze in wonder. Unfortunately, all we have left are photos as the originals were destroyed by GM.

CORVETTE RACING AT DAYTONA: Roar Race Win, Rolex 24 Pole Position for No. 4 Corvette C8.R

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (Jan. 24, 2021) – Corvette Racing took first and second in the GT Le Mans (GTLM) category of Sunday’s 100-minute qualifying race for next weekend’s Rolex 24 At Daytona as Nick Tandy and Alexander Sims won in their debut with the team.

The victory for Tandy and Sims in the No. 4 Mobil 1/SiriusXM Chevrolet Corvette C8.R means they and Tommy Milner will start from the GTLM pole position for Saturday’s Rolex 24 – the opening round of the IMSA WeatherTech SportsCar Championship. The Roar Before the 24 test weekend also ended with Jordan Taylor and Nicky Catsburg coming home second in the No. 3 Mobil 1/SiriusXM Corvette. They will drive with Antonio Garcia in the Rolex 24.

Track Days in Britain:

Is this a Corvette or a Corvair?

Sound restrictions are becoming more and more prevalent for autocrosses and track days!

"You should take care of yourself like you do that Corvette of yours."

Doctors always seem to know how to motivate. But what he should be telling that Corvette owner is that the better you take of yourself, the longer you can drive that Corvette! Now that's motivation!
